About Pipe Dream

Thank you for considering Pipe Dream to connect with Binghamton University students. As Binghamton University's oldest and largest student-run newspaper, Pipe Dream is the primary source of news and commentary for students, faculty, staff, administrators, alumni and community members on and off campus. We serve as a voice for the students at Binghamton University, and we're excited to help bring your message to our audience.

Pipe Dream was founded in 1946 as The Colonial News, an independent, student-run publication. Currently, Pipe Dream prints once a week on Tuesday, with a total circulation of 2,000 issues. We have racks in nearly every building on campus, so that every student and faculty member has access to our paper. We distribute our paper free of charge.

We engage with roughly 18,000 students, faculty and community members – a large portion of the Binghamton population – through our content and business, covering on-campus and community news, events and sports programming. As an independent organization, we do not receive funding from Binghamton University or any of its departments. Rather, we gain revenue through advertising, donations, fundraisers and content sales. This allows us to remain entirely objective and unbiased while serving our audience.

We work with advertisers to create advertising campaigns that are meaningful to our audiences, and impactful for you. In addition to this media kit, our business staff specializes in media consulting, and can offer targeted advertising counsel to help you connect with Binghamton University students. Feel free to reach out with any questions, and we hope to partner with you soon!

Thank you,
